

Print, Publics, and the Universal in King Henry Christophe's Haiti

Presentation by
Doris Lorraine Garraway
Associate Professor of French
Northwestern University

Friday, April 16, 3:30 p.m.

Memorial Union North 201-202 (Mark Twain Room)

(A reception will immediately follow the talk in the same location.)

Sponsored by: The Afro-Romance Institute, the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures Faculty and Graduate Student Seminar Series, the Department of English, and the Department of German and Russian Studies.